WHAT TO DO IF YOU HAVE A DEFECTIVE DISK

Each of our games undergoes extensive playtesting prior to its release. Through this process we hope to uncover and correct any errors in programming. However, due to the complex nature of our simulations, some program errors may go undetected until after publication. In addition to errors in the program, there are occasionally problems with the disk itself. We experience an error rate of approximately 3 to 5% failure rate of duplicated disks. Before assuming that a disk is defective, make sure to check your disk drive. Up to 95% of the disks returned to us as defective will run fine on our computer systems. Often the problem is with a disk drive that needs servicing for alignment, speed, or cleaning.

Should you have a defective disk, please return the disk only (keep all other parts of the game) to our Customer Support Department, along with a note describing the problem you have encountered. A replacement disk will be provided upon our receipt of the defective disk.

Should you uncover an error in the program, return both your game disk and any "save game" disks to our Customer Support Department. Please enclose a description of what was taking place in the game when the error occurred. Upon completion of the program error, we will return an updated disk to you.

Always make sure to include your name, address, and daytime telephone number with any correspondence. We will do our best to see that any problems are corrected as soon as possible.
THE MEETING

Piergeiron, the chief Lord of Waterdeep, has called the party to a meeting and gives you the following letter:

Piergeiron,

I have investigated your concerns, my friend, and I am afraid the news is not good. More than that: it is maddening and frustrating. The signs of evil are clear, as you know, and growing. Before I left I heard rumors of assassins in the city, by Tyr, in Waterdeep! I am not sure what to believe anymore.

I have visited both Ann and Calimshan, these cities have given us trouble in the past. I suspected that our problems now might be their doing, but I find no evidence of it. My informants seem clear on this point at least. None have even heard of our elusive Xanathar. No, these traces of evil are not from outside Waterdeep, but from within...or perhaps below? My magics did detect the evil, but not its source. All of our attempts to find its cause have been for naught.

The only thing we have 'learned' is that the name Xanathar recurs with grave persistence. Where have we NOT looked, Paladinson my friend? Where is it the City Watch never patrol? Where would YOU hide from the Watch and the Lords of Waterdeep without leaving the area of the city? I can only think that we are overlooking something under our very noses.

I will return to the Council soon, my investigations here are clearly fruitless. But do not wait for me — have adventures as the others have suggested. They may not have our biases. Perhaps a new outlook will help.

Your trusted friend,

Khelben

THE COMMISSION

The seers' Piergeiron says, "I would hide in the sewers. And that is where I think you should start." He hands you an official document with the seal of Waterdeep prominently displayed.

Commission and Letter of Marque

This document is a binding commission of service to the Lords and sovereign city of Waterdeep. The bearers of this document are agents of the Lords of Waterdeep and are granted full rights of passage beneath the city of Waterdeep. Any who would dare interfere risk the full penalty of our wrath.

Information has been presented to us that there is a plot afoot in our city. Evidence points to the sewers that run beneath Waterdeep. We have no information about the exact nature of the threat, but we feel the urgency is grave. We commission you to find the nature of the danger, and to destroy it if you are able.

You are granted full rights of marque. All treasures, artifacts, or other valuables are yours by right of conquest.

This writ is made legal and binding by our mark on this fifth day of Marpenoth in the year of Shadows.
INTRODUCTION

The Eye of the Beholder World

EYE OF THE BEHOLDER is an all 3-D, Legend Series computer role-playing adventure based on the popular ADUNGEONS & DRAGONS® 2nd Edition game rules and an original story created for this game. The action takes place in the sewers and catacombs beneath the City of Waterdeep in TSR'S FORGOTTEN REALMS® game world.

Everything in EYE OF THE BEHOLDER is from your point of view. Watch the walls pass by as you move through the sewers beneath the ancient city of Waterdeep. Pick up items by grabbing them. Open doors with keys or by pressing buttons or pulling release levers. See monsters draw nearer to you and close for battle. Attack by using the weapons your characters have in their hands, or cast spells by using your clerics' or paladins' holy symbols and your mages' spell book icons. Those in the front of the party may attack with weapons such as swords and maces, while characters in the rear ranks may attack with spells or ranged weapons such as bows.

A key to playing EYE OF THE BEHOLDER is understanding the difference between Take, Use, and Select. Taking involves actions such as picking up or dropping items. Using involves actions such as attacking monsters with weapons, or indicating that a cleric or mage wishes to cast a spell. You can only use items from the main Adventure Screen. Selecting involves choosing buttons such as spell Level Buttons or the Camp Button, or choosing from lists such as picking spells to cast or memorize. Exactly how to Take, Use, or Select items and options with your mouse or keyboard (some systems only) is described in the Data Card for your computer.

What Comes With this Game?

You should have the following items in your game box:

- Rule Book
- Data Card
- Sewer Map Poster
- Disks

This Rule Book explains how to play the game, the effect of magic spells, and so on. The Actions section beginning on page 15 explains specifically how to perform a number of activities in the game.

The Data Card contains information on how to load the game and play it on your specific computer. It also explains how to get right into the game with the pre-built party.

The Sewer Map Poster gives you an idea what the first three levels of the dungeon look like. Remember: These maps are somewhat out of date or incomplete.

Copy Protection

There is no physical copy protection on your EYE OF THE BEHOLDER disks, so please make copies and put the originals away for safekeeping.

To assure that you have a legitimate copy of the game there will be a verification question whenever you begin playing the game. A picture will be displayed on the screen. You must find the matching illustration in the upper right-hand corner of the Rule Book, and answer a question from that page.

Getting Started Quickly

A saved game containing a pre-built party comes with your game. To get right into the game load this saved game following the instructions on your Data Card.
You must generate four characters to have a complete party. A good mix of races and classes is essential to completing the adventure. Warrior classes such as fighters, paladins, and rangers are needed to deal with the many horrors that block your path. Clerics and mages support the quest with their magical abilities—clerics have powerful healing and protective spells, while mages attack with mystic force. Thieves are handy when progress is barred by a locked gate for which the party has no key. Read the Characters section on page 19 for more information on selecting members of your party.

Generating Characters
To make a character, select one of the four Character Boxes. After you have chosen a box, select the new character’s race and gender, class, alignment, and portrait. Generally you can change your last choice by selecting the Back Button on the bottom right of the screen.

Race
There are six races, or species, to choose from:
- Human
- Half-Elf
- Gnome
- Elf
- Dwarf
- Halfing
Each race has unique advantages and characteristics. Different races are eligible for different classes and each has unique modifiers to attributes such as strength or wisdom. For more information see the Races section on page 19.

Class
Classes are occupations. Some races have the option of having more than one class simultaneously, but there are six basic options:
- Fighter
- Paladin
- Mage
- Cleric
- Thief

A variety of classes is needed in a party to get all of the skills needed for the adventure. Paladins will not join parties with evil characters. If you already have an evil party member you cannot generate a paladin. For more information see the Classes section on page 23.

Alignment
Alignment is the philosophy by which a character lives and deals with the world. There are nine possible alignments, although a character's class may limit the selection. Paladins, for example, can only be Lawful Good. The choices are:
- Lawful Good
- Lawful Neutral
- Lawful Evil
- Neutral Good
- True Neutral
- Neutral Evil
- Chaotic Good
- Chaotic Neutral
- Chaotic Evil

Evil characters cannot join parties with paladins. If you already have a paladin you cannot generate an evil character. For more information see the Alignment section on page 25.

Portrait
You must Select the picture, or Character Portrait, that represents the character in the game. During the game the position of the portrait on the screen indicates if a character is in the front or rear ranks of the party. Select the portrait to examine characters' Equipment Screens.

Select the arrows to display sets of portraits, and then Select your character's Portrait.

Ability Scores
Ability scores are generated for the character after you Select the Character Portrait. These are a summary of the character's natural abilities and faculties. Each character has the following scores:
- Strength
- Intelligence
- Wisdom
- Dexterity
- Constitution
- Charisma

These scores can be modified or generated again after you Select a portrait for the character. For more information see the Ability Scores section beginning on page 25. After attribute scores are generated options to keep or modify your character are displayed.

Reroll Generates a new set of ability scores for the character.

Modify Allows you to selectively change the character's ability scores and hit points, to match a favorite AD&D° game character for example. After selecting Modify, Select the score to change, and then Select the Plus or Minus button to alter the score. Select the OK Button when you are finished.

Faces Returns to the portrait selection option.

Keep Accepts the character into the party.

Name your character after selecting Keep and the new character will join the adventuring party.

When the Party is Complete
When you have generated four characters that you are happy with select the Play Button below the Character Portraits to begin the game.

Characters that Join the Party (NPCs)
In addition to the four regular characters, up to two more non-player characters (NPCs) may join the party at a time. As you adventure these characters may ask to join your characters. If you accept, they join and act as any other characters under your control. Occasionally NPCs offer advice or give you information. NPCs may leave your party or you may drop them at any time.

CHARACTERS

Your adventuring party is made up of up to four characters, each with his or her own unique strengths and weaknesses. Every character has a race, class, and set of attribute scores. Race is the character's species and there is six races to choose from: dwarf, elf, gnome, half-elf, halfling, and human. Class is the character's occupation. Some races are allowed to have more than one class simultaneously, these are called multi-class characters. The basic choices of class are: cleric, fighter, mage, paladin, thief or multi-class. Attribute scores define the character's physical and mental prowess, and they are: strength, dexterity, intelligence, wisdom, and charisma.

Dwarves

Dwarves are by nature non-magical, and have innate resistances to spells as well as many poisons.
- Ability Score Modifiers: Constitution +1, Charisma -1
- Allowable Classes: Cleric, Fighter, Thief, Fighter/Cleric, Fighter/Thief
- Level Restrictions: Cleric 10th-level

Elves

Elves are slender and somewhat shorter than the average human and are easily distinguished by their fine features and pointed ears. They often live more than 1,200 years. Elves do not like the confines of civilization. They delight in natural beauty, singing, and carefree playing. To outsiders, elves often appear to be haughty and cold, although they are known to be fiercely loyal to friends.

Elves of all classes are taught archery from a very young age, and they received a +1 bonus with any type of bow, and long or short swords. Elves are highly resistant to any type of Sleep or Charm spell.
- Ability Score Modifiers: Dexterity +1, Constitution -1
- Allowable Classes: Cleric, Fighter, Mage, Ranger, Thief, Fighter/Mage, Fighter/Thief, Mage/Thief, Mage/Thief
- Level Restrictions: None

Gnomes

Gnomes are distant kin of the dwarves, although the latter are loathe to admit the relation. Gnomes typically live to be around 600 years old. Where dwarves are taciturn and hard working, the gnomes are more carefree and lively. Never turn your back on a gnome, however — they are diabolical and enthusiastic practical jokers. Gnomes are fairly magic-resistant, and gain a +1 combat bonus against kobolds.
- Ability Score Modifiers: Intelligence +1, Wisdom -1
- Allowable Classes: Cleric, Fighter, Thief, Cleric/Thief, Fighter/Cleric, Fighter/Thief
- Level Restrictions: Cleric ninth-level

Half-elves

Half-elves inherit several advantages from their mixed parentage. They resemble their elvish parents in facial appearance, but half-elves are taller and heavier than most elves, approaching human norms. While not as long-lived as true elves, they live, on average, about 250 years. For the most part, half-elves can travel and mingle in both elvish and human company, although rarely are they truly accepted in either.
- Ability Score Modifiers: Strength-1, Dexterity +1
- Allowable Classes: Cleric, Fighter, Thief, Fighter/Thief
- Level Restriction: Cleric eighth-level, Fighter ninth-level

Humans

Humans are the most adaptable and, hence, most prevalent race. Humans vary more than any other race in size, skin color, and hair color. Typically they live around 70 years. Human societies are more diversified than any of the other races, and also more aggressive and acquisitive. Where the longer-lived races wait patiently and take a long-range view of the world, humans tend to muster their efforts for immediate gain.
- Ability Score Modifiers: None
- Allowable Classes: Cleric, Fighter, Mage, Ranger, Thief, Fighter/Cleric, Fighter/Thief, Mage/Thief, Ranger/Cleric/Mage, Thief/Mage, Mage/Thief, Mage/Cleric, Fighter/Mage/Thief
- Level Restrictions: None

Halflings

Halflings are a diminutive people famous for their congeniality and love of comfort. Their facial features are round and broad and they typically have curly hair. Halflings are fairly short, a little shorter than dwarves, and quite plump. They are sturdy, industrious, and generally quiet and peaceful. Their burrow homes are well furnished, and their lairs are always well stocked. Halfings are well liked by nearly all other races. Gnomes especially like the halflings, whom they feel are kindred spirits.
- Ability Score Modifiers: Strength-1, Dexterity +1
- Allowable Classes: Cleric, Fighter, Thief, Fighter/Thief
- Level Restriction: Cleric eighth-level, Fighter ninth-level
THE CITY OF WATERDEEP
Classes

Each class has its own unique strengths, and each offers valuable talents and skills to a party. Fighter-types—fighters, rangers, and paladins—are needed to battle the creatures that stand in the way of victory and glory. Thieves are very handy when the party runs across traps. Mages offer powerful spells, and clerics can both fight and heal the wounded.

Each class has one or more prime requisites, or ability scores that are important to the class. A character with prime requisite score(s) of 16 or greater advances somewhat faster in levels.

Clerics are warrior priests, men and women who carry their faith in their weapon-arms as well as their hearts. Cleric training includes the use of divine magic and a limited selection of weapons. They can use any type of armor, but their selection is limited to blunt, impact-type weapons such as maces and flails.

Clerics do not carry tome of spells and rituals. They receive power directly from the gods and cast spells through their holy symbols. While mages study and peer over their spells to imprint the rituals in their minds, clerics enter a meditative trance where they are receptive to the divine magic. Clerics also have powers against undead monsters such as skeletons and zombies. Clerics automatically attempt to turn undead, driving them away, or possibly even destroying them. As clerics advance in level they gain more spells and greater power against undead. Clerics with wisdom of 13 or higher gain extra spells (see the Cleric Wisdom Bonus table on page 49).

- Prime Requisite: Wisdom
- Races Allowed: Human, Dwarf, Elf, Gnome, Half-Elf, Halfling
- Weapons Allowed: Mace, Flail, Staff, Sling

Fighters are warriors, experts in weapon-skills and battle tactics. Fighter training includes use and maintenance of all manner of weapons and armor. Fighters can use any type of armor or weapon without restriction. Whether for glory or profit, fighters can be found in the thickest parts of battles, where only skill and bravery triumph.

Fighters cannot cast any type of magical spell, nor would they as a rule want to, preferring to rely on a strong sword-arm. They can use any type of magical weapon or armor and magic items such as rings and gauntlets. Fighters gain speed as well as skill when they go up in levels. At high level fighter-types including fighters, paladins and rangers, are able to attack more often with melee weapons such as swords than other types of characters.

- Prime Requisite: Strength
- Races Allowed: All
- Weapons Allowed: All

Mages are individuals trained in the arcane and mysterious secrets of magic and spellcasting gestures. Mages tend to be poor fighters, preferring to rely on their intellect and magical abilities. While warriors and clerics may charge to the fore of a battle, mages tend to hang back and pummel foes with mystic attacks. Mages tend to be reclusive and spend most of their time researching new spells and ancient magical lore.

Mages cannot wear any type of armor. This is because they have no training or aptitude for martial skills, and armor is restrictive and interferes with some spellcasting. Also because of their lack of martial inclination, mages are severely limited in the weapons they can use. Mages become very powerful as they increase in level.

- Prime Requisite: Intelligence
- Races Allowed: Human, Elf, Half-Elf
- Weapons Allowed: Dagger, staff, dart

Paladins are elite warriors who battle in the name of Truth and Justice. Lawfulness and good deeds are their meat and drink, and they lead lives of such chaste piety that even clerics stand respectable. Paladins will not join a party that includes evil characters. Like other high level fighter-types, paladins are able to attack more often with melee weapons, such as swords, than other types of characters.

In addition to skill in all types of arms and armor, paladins have several divine magical abilities conferred on their piety. Paladins have extra resistance to magical attacks and poison. Paladins are immune to all disease. Paladins can heal once per day (two hit points per level of advancement). They are always surrounded by a Protection Versus Evil aura that encompasses the entire party. All evil attackers suffer a small penalty to their attacks if a paladin is in the party.

At third-level, paladins can turn undead as a cleric two levels below their own. At ninth-level, paladins gain the ability to cast certain cleric spells, although they can never use cleric scrolls. Paladins pray for their spells and cast them exactly as clerics.

Paladins can use the following cleric spells: Bless, Cure Light Wounds, Detect Magic, Protection From Evil, Slow Poison.

- Prime Requisites: Strength, Charisma
- Races Allowed: Only Human
- Weapons Allowed: All

Rangers are trained hunters, trackers, and woodsmen. They are taught to live as much by their wits and skills as by their swords and bows. Like fighters, rangers can use any type of weapon or armor, although heavy armor interferes with their special abilities.

When wearing studded leather or lighter armor, rangers can fight with weapons in both hands without any penalties. Like other high level fighter-types, rangers are able to attack more often with melee weapons, such as swords, than other types of characters.

- Prime Requisites: Strength, Dexterity, Wisdom
- Races Allowed: Human, Elf, Half-Elf
- Weapons Allowed: All

Thieves are hard to classify as a group. Some are malcontents, who prey on the unsuspecting. Others are basically good, but are a little wanting in strength of char-
Ethics

Good indicates the character tries to act in a moral and upstanding manner.

Neutral indicates the character leans towards “situational ethics,” evaluating each set of circumstances.

Evil indicates the character acts either with no regard for others, or in an overtly malignant manner.

Ability Scores

The base for each attribute score is a number between 3 and 18. Racial modifiers are automatically factored into the base number by the computer when any value is shown. The maximum value for scores is 19, except fighters’ strength, which may have a percentile value added to indicate exceptional prowess. Higher values always offer greater advantages.

Strength measures physical power, muscle, and stamina. Fighter-type characters (fighters, rangers, and paladins) can have exceptional strengths greater than 18. Exceptional strength is indicated by a percent value (01, 02, 03... 98, 99, 00) following the base strength (for example 18/25). High strength allows characters to fight better. With hand weapons such as swords or maces they hit more often and get damage bonuses.

Halflings, even halfling-fighters, cannot have exceptional strengths.

Dexterity measures agility, eye-hand coordination, and reflex speed. Characters with high dexterityes have bonuses to armor class, which indicates how difficult they are to hit. Good dexterity also gives bonuses when using missile weapons such as bows or slings. Dexterity of 16 or higher counters some of the minuses fighters suffer when using weapons in both hands.

Constitution measures fitness, health, and physical toughness. High constitution increases the number of hit points a character gets. Hit pointss measure how difficult a character is to incapacitate or kill.

Intelligence measures memory, reasoning and learning ability. Intelligence is the prime requisite for mages, where their skill and very survival hinges on learning and using the knowledge of magic.

Wisdom measures a composite of judgment, enlightenment, will power, and intuition. Characters with wisdom of 7 or less are more susceptible to magical spells, while wisdom of 15 or greater lends some resistance. Clerics with wisdom of 13 or greater get extra spells (see the Cleric Wisdom Bonus table on page 42.)

Charisma measures personal magnetism, persuasiveness, and ability to assume command. Characters with high charisma are useful as spokespersons when dealing with NPCs you may run across during your adventures.

Other Characteristics

In addition to race, class, and attribute scores, characters have several other characteristics that may change during the game: armor class (AC), hit points, experience points, level and alignment.

Armor Class (AC) measures how difficult a target is to hit and damage — the lower the AC value, the harder the target is to hit. Good AC can indicate different things. A character might be difficult to hit because he is outfitted with magical armor, while a monster might have the same AC because it is small and fast. AC changes only when characters find and use new armor or shields. High dexterity improves a character’s AC.

Hit Points measure how difficult a character or opponent is to incapacitate or kill — higher values are better. Every time an attack gets past armor and defenses, it does damage that is subtracted from the target’s hit points. If the target takes too much damage, he will die or become unconscious.

Experience Points (EXP) measure how much a character has accomplished. EXP are earned for killing monsters, finding treasure, and completing parts of the adventure. Having prime requisite scores of 16 or greater increases experience earned by 10%. Characters increase in level when they earn enough EXP. All characters start with some EXP, and these initial points are distributed evenly throughout all of a character’s classes if he is multi-class.

Level measures how much a character has advanced in his or her class. Whenever a character has earned enough EXP to advance in level, he gains hit points, combat ability, and resistance to the effects of poisons and magical attacks. Mages, clerics, and high level paladins gain the ability to memorize a greater number of spells and cast new spell levels. Level advancement happens automatically whenever a character has enough EXP. Level Advancement tables for all of the classes begin on page 42.

The Early Years

A thousand years ago the city of Waterdeep was merely a stopover for merchant ships trading in the northern lands. The scattered human tribes would come to the coast and trade furs for the traders' baubles, metal weapons and tools. If trading was poor, the merchant ships would hole up in the deep bay and fill their holds with lumber to cut their losses. Several local tribes came to settle and farm the clear cut lands. A year-round trading settlement soon grew along the shores.

Soon the new wealth spawned a battleground. Warrior tribes raided the farms. Several warlords waged battles for domination of the coveted trading base and fertile fields. Finally a chieftain named Nimoar seized the farms and the ramshackle decks and buildings of the trading enclave. Nimoar ordered a log palisade and earthen embankments built around the trading enclave. The following spring the newly fortified community repelled several pirate and tribal raids and began to prosper.

The First Lords of Waterdeep

Under Nimoar's rule Waterdeep grew from a trading enclave to a small fortified city. While the city grew, further to the north orc tribes too were expanding their territories. The orcs had outgrown their mountain strongholds and were streaming into the lands below. Dwarves and elves took the worst of the onslaught, with only occasional orc raids troubling the scattered human tribes or the new city of Waterdeep. The real threat was the tribes that the orc push had displaced and driven south, most notably the “everlasting ones,” as trolls were then called. Nimoar died of old age at the beginning of this war. The young warlords who followed the old leader led the men of Waterdeep in valiant defense. The city swelled with refugees seeking the high walls of safety. The struggles continued in stalemate for a decade, until a youthful northern mage named Aghhairon helped tip the balance. The “everlasting ones” were destroyed or scattered.

Fearing further attacks, the men of the city raised a small keep on the slopes of Mount Waterdeep. The keep commanded all land approaches to the city. Any troll attackers would be met with a deadly rain of fire arrows. Many who had moved to the city for safety during the Troll Wars stayed on and expanded the walls several times to encompass the new farms.

The Troll Wars and the Growth of Waterdeep

The First Lords of Waterdeep

After the Troll Wars, the free city of Waterdeep was ruled by War Lords. The young mage Aghhairon, gained knowledge and power until he became a great mage. Somewhere in his studies or travels, he discovered a supply of Potions of Longevity. The never aging wizard offered his wisdom and experience and became a fixture in Waterdeep politics. In his 119th year, Aghhairon had a falling out with Raurlor the Warlord of Waterdeep. Raurlor wanted to use the city's great wealth and force-of-arms to wage a war of conquest. Aghhairon defied the Warlord in public, before a large gathering of citizens and officials. When Raurlor ordered the wizard bound and imprisoned, Aghhairon rose into the air, out of reach of the guards and the angered Warlord. When Raurlor drew his weapon and attacked the wizard, Aghhairon answered the affront by changing the sword into a venomous viper. The Warlord was bitten and died in writhing agony.

Aghhairon gathered all the captains of Waterdeep and all of the great families. While runners were sent to bring them to the palace, flames roared and crackled around the Warlord’s empty throne. When the last of the attendants arrived, Aghhairon gestured and the flames disappeared, leaving the seat unharmed. The wizard sat on the throne and declared himself the first Lord of Waterdeep, proclaiming that henceforth wisdom and not armed force would rule in the city.

Aghhairon assembled the first Lords. Each had an equal vote, even the powerful wizard. When they appeared in public the Lords went hooded, and their identities were kept secret. The Lords were to be above petty politicking and influence, and together their word was supreme law.

The Guildmasters War

Aghhairon and the other Lords ruled well and wisely for two hundred years. The Lords directed that toads be built. Guilds were formed to regulate the burgeoning trades and crafts for which the city was becoming famous. The city grew fivefold and walls were expanded twice more during this time. After many years of peace and wise rule, Aghhairon's vitality failed. The mages that had kept him young were no longer sufficient to keep the years at bay and the revered wizard died. The whole city grieved, and he was interred with the greatest honors ever known before or since. Several who had tutored under the old mage placed potent magical wards and protective spells around his resting-place—which is believed to remain inviolate to this day.

During Aghhairon's waning days, several powerful Guildmasters quietly learned the identities of nearly all of the Lords of Waterdeep. When the old mage was interred, the Lords were assassinated and the Guildmasters vied for control. The Guildmasters ruled for six short, bloody years. All but two of the original masters were slain. Only Lhorak Gildhegh Master of the Shipwrights, and Ehlemm Zear of the Gemcutters ruled. These two ruthless manipulators were evenly matched foes and the city suffered under their incessant maneuvering and conflict. Open warfare between the factional forces was common. At length they both sickened of the bloodshed and formed a truce. Two thrones were set in Castle Waterdeep, and from them the two Lords Magister, as they were called, argued and issued decrees.

The Return of the Lords

One day two people came to the Court of the Lords Magister. They wore the black robes and hoods as had the old Lords of Waterdeep. No one knew where the
The New Reign of the Lords of Waterdeep

Peace returned to the city when the new Lords were formed. To better protect the identities of the new members, Baeron selected certain citizens of character and appointed them Magisters, or “Black Robes” as they were soon called, after their robes of office. The Magisters were below the Lords in power, but could judge and apply the laws in daily affairs. The Lords themselves now meet in very secure privacy and seldom deal in official capacity with any other than the Magisters.

Slowly the people of Waterdeep came to fully accept that the new reign would be a long-lasting and just rule. Waterdeep has grown to unrivaled might and respect, truly deserving the title “Crown of the North.”

The Lords Today

After the tradition of Ahghairon and Baeron, one Lord always remains unmasked—to give the Lords a public voice and face. The current chief Lord is Piergeiron, also known as “Paladinion” for his famous paladin father, Athar “the Shining Knight.” Paladinion is also both the Commander of the City Watch and Warden of the Guard. He speaks slowly and carefully, hiding a keen mind behind a taciturn exterior. As always, rumors abound about the other Lords’ identities. Some say Paladinion’s wizard friend and confidant Khebren Arunsen is surely a Lord. Of course, the number of names bandied about is much greater than the actual number of Lords.

Beholder:

Also known as Eye Tyrant or Sphere of Many Eyes, this solitary horror is most often found underground. Beholders have a globular body and move with an innate levitation. Atop the beholder’s spherical body are ten eye-stalks, and in the center is a single large eye and a gaping maw adorned with several rows of razor-sharp teeth. Each of the eye-stalks has a unique magical ability—the beholder can cast a different spell with each. Fortunately, not all of the eyes can be brought to bear on a given target. Beholders are covered with hard, chitinous armor, making them relatively tough to hit in combat.

Displacer Beast:

The displacer beast resembles a blue-black puma with two powerful tentacles growing from its shoulders. The tentacles are tipped with sharp, horny protuberances that can punch through even steel armor. The beasts range in size from 8 to 12 feet in length. and can reach upwards of 500 pounds. The beast’s name describes its most dangerous feature — an ability to “displace” its image up to three feet from its actual location. This makes the displacer beast very difficult to hit in combat.

DRIDER:
This strange creature has the head and torso of a drow (see below) and the lower body of a giant spider. When drow of exceptional ability reach the sixth-level, they are subjected to a test by the drow’s dark goddess. Those who pass the test are elevated to special services. Those who fail are transformed into driders and cast out of drow society. Driders can generally cast spells as well as fight with weapons.

DROW:
In their long-past history, the drow were part of the elf community that still roams the world’s forests. Something turned these elves evil, and drove them from the sunlight into their present subterranean caves and cities. Drow are shorter and more lightly built than men. They have black skin and pale, usually white hair. All drow can cast some magic spells, and they often carry swords of adamite alloy.

DWARF:
These stocky demi-humans stand between 4 and 4 ½ feet tall and weigh between 130 and 170 pounds. Dwarves are very tough warriors, and are resistant to both poisons and magical attacks.

FLIND:
This humanoid creature vaguely resembles a heavily muscled human with a canine head. Flind are of average intelligence, and can be found both above-ground and in caverns.

GOLEM:
A golem is an artificial creature animated by an elemental spirit. The process of creating a golem begins with the creation of a body made of stone, iron, clay, or even flesh. After the body has been assembled, the creator must undergo a lengthy ritual to bind the elemental to the body, and subordinate its will to the new master. The ritual is a closely guarded secret of a handful of powerful wizards. Golems are utterly fearless, and battle with single-minded determination.

HELL HOUND:
The hell hound is a very large, rust-red or brown beast with burning red eyes. The beast’s markings, teeth, and tongue are soot-black. The baying of a hell hound has been described as “eerie,” “hollow,” and “disturbing.” The beast attacks with flaming breath and piercing teeth.

KENKU:
These beings resemble humanoid hawks, with both arms and wings. Their height ranges from five to seven feet, their feathers are predominantly brown with white under-feathers, and their eyes are brilliant yellow. Kenku all have natural thieving abilities, and take perverse pleasure in annoying and inconveniencing human and demi-human races.

KOBOLD:
Well known for cowardice and a wide sadistic streak, kobolds are usually only dangerous in large groups. Kobolds stand about three feet tall, and their dark rusty hides are somewhat scaly. The smell of a kobold has been described as “a cross between a wet dog and a swamp.” They have an ancestral hatred for gnomes, and attack them on sight. Kobolds generally prefer to attack other opponents en masse, or from a distance.

KUO-TOA:
This is an ancient race of fish-men that now dwell in subterranean caverns. The kuo-toa harbor an age-old hatred for surface dwellers and their sunlit world. These creatures have a vaguely human body, topped with a wide-mouthed fish head. They have short legs and long, three-fingered hands. Kuo-toa wear no clothing, only a leather harness for their weapons and few belongings.

LEECH, GIANT:
This is a slimy, slug-like parasite that feeds on its victim’s bodily fluids. Leeches wait in the mud, sludge, and slime of swamps and sewers for unsuspecting prey. The giant leech rears up from the ooze when it detects the presence of a living creature, and attempts to subdue its prey.

MANTIS WARRIOR:
Also called Thri-Kreen, this is a carnivorous insect man. A mantis warrior resembles a man-sized praying mantis. Mantis warriors are often armed with a peculiar, viciously bladed polearm. The name for this weapon has never been translated into the Common tongue, but the ferocious reputation of the deadly thing, and the warriors who wield it, has spread far.

MIND FLAYER:
Also called lilitlits, this is one of the most feared of the subterranean dwellers. Mind flayers feed on the very minds of sentient beings. Mind flayers are a slimy mauve color, stand about six feet tall, and acorn themselves with flowing robes decorated with images of suffering, death, and despair. Their faces resemble octopi with two large, white, pupilless eyes.

Rust Monster:
This is a subterranean creature with an appetite for metals of all kinds. Rust monsters are about five feet in length, and have a long, armored tail and two prehensile antennae. The tail is tipped with a strange paddle-like appendage. The creature is normally placid and inoffensive—until it smells metal. Whenever the creature detects the scent of food (armor, weapons, and the like) it charges. Whenever the monster hits metal with its antennae, the metal corrodes and "feeds" the creature. Even magical weapons can be susceptible to the rust monster’s attack.

Skeleton:
This is a magically animated body, created and controlled by a powerful evil wizard or priest. Skeletons are one of the lesser undead monsters though powerful skeletons have been created from the bodies of powerful warriors. Because they have no intelligence or will, skeletons are immune to spells such as Sleep, Charm, and Hold. They are also utterly fearless, and never retreat from a fight.

Spider, Giant:
This predator haunts many regions and helps to keep down the level of pests such as kobolds and adventurers. Giant spiders weave webs for unwary victims, and attack with poisonous bites.

Xorn:
This creature is a native to the elemental plane of Earth, and feeds on precious metal deep underground. The wide body of a xorn is made of a pebbly material, and its mouth is located at the top of its head. Three talon-clawed arms are positioned symmetrically around its body. In the few reported cases of xorn attacks, the creatures seem to have been attracted by jewels or precious metals, rather than malice.

Zombie:
Like skeletons, zombies are undead creatures that are animated and controlled by powerful wizards or priests. The animation ritual does not alter the condition of the zombie’s body, so most are in severe states of decay, often missing patches of skin and hair, and occasionally whole limbs. Zombies are very slow and clumsy, but they fight with determination and persistence.
