introduction

The Bard was born to a working class family in a small country village one year after the new millennium had turned. His parents, Edmund and Adelaide had married two years earlier, while Edmund was suffering from an ailment that was spreading throughout the globe like a plague. Many believed this "plague" was the means to the end of the world because of the new millennium approaching, but as it turns out, everyone just had a touch of the flu. Later doctors would refer to this flu as The Millennium Virus. The Bard was a good

2 ■ baby, but had an unusual infatuation with rattles. Because of this, he developed quite the knack of conning other babies out of their rattles. "It was amazing," his mother would say, "Every week he would have upwards of twenty rattles in his possession." He spent his formative years attending school and working on his parents grub farm, neither of which seemed to inspire him, although it did inspire townfolk to stay downwind. A turning point in the Bard's life was his first exposure to live music at age 12. While on an errand to fetch a bucket of lard for the week's meals, he was lured to the town pub by the melodic sounds of plucked strings. He watched wide-eyed through the pub window for a good hour before a barmaid yelled, "Get away from my dressing room window, boy!" He then moved down to the window the music was coming from and listened with rapt attention while the band played to an appreciative audience. Periodically patrons would toss coins into a worn hat at the foot of the stage and the Bard couldn't help but notice that the lute player's hands were actually clean, unlike his which were the color of grub excrement. That alone was incentive enough for the Bard to become a musician. As the band stopped playing to enjoy a round of ale the Bard's eyes locked on the beautiful Isabel, the daughter of a nearby farmer, who was now the bar's serving wench. It was at this very moment the Bard understood his true calling, prompting him to run back to the window of the barmaid's dressing room. The very next day a black-eyed Bard rummaged through some wood scraps and constructed a crude, one-stringed instrument and learned to play the big hit of the time, It's Bad Luck To Be You. To earn money and to gain a musical education, he performed odd jobs at the pub, such as killing rats in the cellar (or the barmaid's dressing room), and made friends with the traveling musicians who filled its stage.

Near the conclusion of his schooling the Bard felt he had no choice but to leave school and his village. This was of course because the school and the village asked him to leave. It seems the Bard had made a pass at every lassie in town and actually was in the process of starting the second pass. Also, his past caught up with him when classmates in his Warlocks & Witches class (the first year the class went co-ed) conjured up a spell to release blocked childhood memories. One by one, many of the Bard's classmates began remembering being conned out of their rattles when they were small children. The Bard barely escaped with his own rattles that day.

On the outside the Bard's parents were bitterly disappointed in their son, but deep down, well... they were bitterly disappointed in their son. "I don't know what is worse," his father complained, "that he is so incompetent that he can't even take over the family grub farm or the sounds that come out of that blasted lute of his!" His first journey took him to a neighboring village where he became an apprentice to a barrel maker, enabling him to earn some money to pursue his music career at night. While making barrels his mind drifted off to thoughts of music making and women, or was that music and woman-making? At any rate, this lack of focus at work resulted in some shoddy barrel making which would soon come back to haunt him. His nights were filled with visits to the town pub, plying his preferred trade of music for a flagon of ale and hopefully the favor of any lasses who might be within earshot.

His tenure as a barrel maker came to an abrupt end when his barrel mentor Henry, the proprietor of The Barrel Barn, ran him out of town for producing barrels that shattered with a mere whack of a sword. "A key won't even be safe in these things!" Henry screamed while chasing the Bard down the street with sword drawn. Out of money and out of women, the Bard officially entered his career as a roaming musician and adventurer by wandering the land, every day looking for a way to secure a bed and a plate of food. His progress took him northward hoping to find new pawns in new towns, those unfamiliar with his trickery of separating them from their silver. With all the Bard's wits and all the Bard's talents, he was able to get by. He couldn't eat, and had to sleep on the ground, but he got by. Just when he was about to give up and head back to the grub farm, fate stepped in... or actually kind of slithered in.

During an extermination session, to the Bard's amazement, a rat spoke to him in an elegant English tongue and pleaded for his life. He wasn't really amazed that the rat was speaking to him, but that it was speaking to him after only two mugs of ale. The rat eloquently told his story - he had been a talented bard himself once, a refined gentleman actually and a bit of a gold-digger, when one of his conquests, a disgruntled mistress, turned out to be a sorceress. She exacted her revenge by relegating him to a life as a rat - a permanent reminder of his true nature. After the Bard heard this, he only had one question. "Her name wasn't Sheila, was it?" After being relieved his nights previous conquest wasn't the same woman, he then questioned the speaking rat as to why he should spare his life. The rat explained that he could teach the Bard a tune that when played would magically summon him out of midair, a talent he once had when in human form. He went on to explain that only the most talented musicians can work such magic, and he had witnessed the Bard's talented play. "Who knows," he said to the Bard, "you may be able to use me as a ruse to earn a few coins." With the thought of riches rushing to the Bard's head, a beautiful partnership was born; the rat...and of course the little rodent creature. The Bard had one simple request of his new friend the talkative rat; speak again, and he'd die before he could finish the sentence. "I agree..." responded the rat.

The Bard continued his trek through the countryside, using his now silent rat to disturb patrons at local taverns and pubs and subsequently dissipating him for a modest reward. Searching for new towns to ply his trade took the Bard across the sea northward to the Orcades Islands, a mystical land storied for its unusual creatures and potent brew. After touring several settlements the Bard found himself in the village of Houton, outside the local watering hole The Drunken Rat, and that is where our story begins.

getting started

Main Menu

On the opening menu you will be presented with five options:

Start New Game — Select this option when you are ready to begin playing. Once you have started a new game, you have the option to select the game difficulty: Easy, Normal, or Olde School. Easy is what the Bard himself would choose, for it's the easiest way out. Choose Olde School if you wish to see the Bard get the beating he deserves, but keep in mind there will be far less save points in the game. Or, if you are neither wimp nor stallion, choose Normal.

Once you have chosen a difficulty level, you will be taken to the Character Generation Screen. Here, you may set the Bards' attributes to your liking, or select "Auto Allocate" to have the game choose them for you.

Generate Character: Depending on the difficulty level, the Bard's starting attributes will vary. Attributes are as follows:

Strength - The stronger the Bard is, the more damage he can inflict in melee combat.

Vitality - A high vitality will improve the Bards' health, making him more difficult to defeat in battle.

Luck - Luck has a subtle affect on many aspects of the Bards' adventures.

Dexterity - A high dexterity allows the Bard to inflict greater damage with ranged weapons.

Charisma - Shopkeepers will offer significant discounts to the Bard if he has high charisma.

Rhythm - Rhythm allows the Bard to play magical tunes with greater skill, enhancing the abilities and strengths of summoned creatures.

Once you select attribute levels, scroll down to "CONTINUE" and press "A". You will be asked to choose a talent.

Talent: This is simply a talent the Bard will have from the beginning of the game. The Bard will pick up more talents as the game progresses utilizing "power ups" you earn by winning battles.

Two-handed Weapons - Allows the Bard to equip and use Two-Handed weapons.

Dual Wield - Allows the Bard to fight with a dirk in one hand and a sword in the other.

Flail - Allows the Bard to equip and use a flail.

Shield Bash - The Bard will automatically bash with his shield after blocking, stunning his enemy.

Riposte - The bard will counterattack in a circle after blocking, knocking down his enemies. Used with the Dual Wield skill.

Heavy Parry - The bard will counterattack in a circle after blocking, knocking down his enemies. Used with the Two-Handed Weapon skill.

Shield Charge - A powerful charging attack which stuns enemies. Used with the sword skill. Hold and release the attack button to activate.

Blade Dash - A deadly charging attack, used with the dual wield skill. Hold and release the attack button to activate.

Spinning Smash - A damaging spinning attack, used with the two-handed weapon skill. Hold and release the attack button to activate.

Whirlwind - A powerful spinning attack which stuns enemies. Used with the Flail skill. Hold and release the attack button to activate.

Power Shot - A powerful ranged shot which passes through its target. Used with the Ranged skill. Hold and release the attack button to activate.

Arrow Storm - A ranged attack that fires multiple arrows which pass through their targets, used with the ranged skill. Hold and release the attack button to activate.

Critical Strike - Gives the Bard a chance to score a critical hit on his enemies, inflicting additional damage.

Improved Critical Strike - An improved chance to score a more deadly critical hit.

Treasure Hunter - The Bard gains bonus coins for any treasure he finds.

Once you've selected the Bard's initial talent, the game will begin.

Load Saved Game — This option will allow you to load a previously saved Bard's Tale game from your memory card.

Options — Select this option if you want to change controller configuration, adjust sound options, or various other options in the game.

Help — Select this to display the game's controller configuration.

Extras — On the main menu is a selection containing extras. We aren't saying exactly what they are or how to unlock them, but if you care to make a donation, you can see some fun behind-the-scenes material.

Credits — Select this to see the band of reprobates who brought you The Bard's Tale. Names may have been changed for their own safety.

playing the game

Any cut scene or movie can be skipped by pressing START. To walk the Bard around, use the left thumbstick. The right thumbstick will rotate the camera. The Bard can speak with certain characters by walking up to them, and in many cases, the Bard can choose how to respond.

Snarky or Nice

There are several opportunities throughout the game where the Bard can respond to someone he is speaking with. The player has two options, answer nicely or talk smack (snarky). Whichever one you choose can change the outcome of the conversation, and nice is not always the way to go. When these opportunities to reply arise, two icons will appear. Press "B" for a nice response and "X" for a snarky one.

Character Sheet

During the game the player can press BACK at any time to bring up the character sheet. It allows the player to view level, health, mana, experience, as well as all the Bard's current attributes. It also displays the following:

Quest Log

This lists your current tasks.

Equipment

This is where you can view which weapons, armor, and shields the Bard is carrying.

Tune List

Brings up a list of tunes, showing the creatures the Bard can summon to fight at his side.

Talent List

This displays all the talents the Bard has learned so far in the game.

Token List

Displays a spot for each of the 25 tokens in the game and shows which tokens the Bard has found.

Making money

The Bard can collect money by killing enemies, be they human or beast, and by collecting valuables they might be carrying. There may even be a few buried treasures here and there to fill the Bard's pockets. This money is very important to upgrade weapons and armor, as well as buying the Bard out of precarious situations.

selecting and using weapons

To select a weapon, press the White button to bring up your options. Choose your weapon by pressing the appropriate button. Weapons that are grayed out are not available at that given time. Be sure to stop by the stores in town to upgrade the bard's weaponry.

Available Weapons, Shields and Armor

The Bard begins his quest with a simple sword and some modest armor. As the game progresses the Bard can upgrade his weapons and defenses through either exploration or by going to village stores. To buy, the Bard obviously needs money, which he can make by either completing certain quests or killing creatures and foes. Following are the types of weapons, armor, and shields available throughout the game. Keep in mind that every item available has different levels of quality and effectiveness.

Dirks

Not much for combat, but at least it's better than bruising up your knuckles. It is however a good weapon to use for dual weapon fighting, with a sword for instance, giving the Bard an extra edge.

Swords

Now we are getting a little more serious. There are several swords available as the game progresses, with upgrades requiring fewer blows to take down an enemy.

Two-Handed Weapons

These are weapons designed to utilize both hands, making them a double threat upon the enemy.

Flails

For those of you unfamiliar with medieval combat, a flail is one of those pointy steel balls on a chain attached to a stick. Quite fun actually once you get it twirling.

Bows

This allows the Bard to do his fighting from a safer distance. Available in several sizes and strengths, the bigger the bow, the sooner they fall.

Armor

As we mentioned, the Bard begins the game with some pretty flimsy armor. However, as the foes get bigger and the battles get more intense, the Bard best find some stronger armor to keep him alive.

Shields

Shields are also very important when it comes to keeping the Bards' blood where it belongs... inside his body. Shields can be upgraded, and when used along with some quality armor can keep the Bard in battle longer.

Health and Healing

The Bard can heal in several ways. He will heal naturally given time between battles to lick his wounds. Also, when the Bard visits a Kirk in the game he is asked if he wishes to make a donation. The Bard may donate any amount of money to a kirk receiving free healing as well as a short-duration blessing giving the Bard an extra resistance to damage. A more effective way for the Bard to heal is through summoning creatures with healing powers, when they are available.

Artifacts

There are artifacts in the game that the Bard may use to invoke great power. The first of these artifacts is the amulet of a sorceress which the Bard receives near the beginning of the game. As the game goes on, even more powerful artifacts can be employed by the Bard. The Artifacts allow the Bard to summon the spirit of the character they are attuned to, unleashing their power on his foes.

To power an artifact the Bard must collect Adder Stones. The total number of stones that he has will be displayed on screen whenever he uses one or collects one. The Bard may also consult his character sheet for the total number of stones he possesses.

To activate the Artifact, pull the left trigger which will bring up a menu displaying which artifacts are available. Once the appropriate button is pressed, a second menu appears where you can select the number of stones you wish to use. Once selected, the Bard will activate the artifact.

Sorceress

- Power Level I (1 Stone) – Sorceress heals all members of the Bard's party.
- Power Level II (2 Stones) – Sorceress blesses all members of the Bard's Party giving them a 50% decrease in all damage taken for a short period of time.
- Power Level III (3 Stones) – Sorceress blesses all members so they are invulnerable for a short period of time.

Tokens

Tokens are items that can be found throughout the game that add a bonus to the Bard's attributes. Each token can increase a certain attribute, such as luck, dexterity, charisma, and so on. There are 25 tokens in the game, 20 enhance the Bards' basic statistics and 5 are a bit rarer having more powerful effects. The Bard can see which tokens he has or hasn't found by accessing the token page from his character sheet.

Shopkeepers

As you wander through towns, keep an eye out for the town stores. Inside these stores you can speak with shopkeepers about the weaponry they have for sale. The shopkeeper will give descriptions and show the prices, and you may purchase these weapons. Always be on the lookout for upgrades, the better prepared for battle the Bard is, the more likely he is to live through it.

summoning and controlling creatures

As the Bard goes through the game, he will learn or be taught new tunes to play and collect new instruments which will summon creatures to help him during battle. Each one of these creatures has specific talents as well as weaknesses, so selecting the right companions in different situations can make the difference between victory and defeat. Also, each summoned creature has the ability to be upgraded to a more powerful level as the game goes on. These upgrades can range from new abilities to statistical upgrades.

By pulling and holding the right trigger, the Bard has a choice of four categories: Support, elemental, helpers, and warriors. Select the category by pressing the appropriate button, and then choose the creature you wish to summon. If the icon is grayed out, or a question mark is displayed, then that creature is not currently available. The Bard will play a tune and that creature will appear to help the Bard. The creature can be killed, and if so, the Bard will have to summon the creature again.

Each instrument the Bard owns has a pool of magical power known as mana. Whenever the Bard plays a tune the mana cost of that tune will be subtracted from the mana pool of the instrument, so use it sparingly. Mana will regenerate to a certain extent over time, the rate of regeneration depending on the level of the Bard.

Giving orders: During the game the Bard can issue group orders to the creatures he summons by using the directional pad. An order will apply to all currently summoned creatures, so individual orders cannot be given.

Come To me (right directional)

All creatures will go to the Bard, ignoring attackers and trying to get close to him. When they have gotten close enough to the Bard, they will act as if in defensive stance.

Defensive Stance (down directional)

The creature will stay near the Bard, attacking any enemies that come in range. They will not chase enemies that are too far away.

Aggressive Stance (up directional)

The creature will attack the closest enemy until it is dead, then repeat. They will chase enemies a fair distance away from the Bard but will not wander too far away.

Stay (left directional)

The creatures will all stay where they are, defending themselves if able.
